W. H. CLARK'S HORSES.

Matt Allen trains the horses composing the stable of W. H. Clark, for which the crack jockey Maher will ride this year and next. In a review of the stable for Morning Telegraph, its turf writer "Kelston," says:

"The following twenty-two horses comprise what are now under Mr. Allen's care at Morris Park. Eight more are wintering at Mr. Clark's farm in New Jersey:

"Candleblack, 4; Banastar, 4; Jeannot 4; The Bouncer, 3; Dorval, 3; Lacochee, 3; Sanford, 3; Outcast, 3; Acushla, 3; The Rose, 3. The 2-year-olds are: Bay colt, by Ben Strome—Acra; chestnut colt, by Potomac—Caledonia; chestnut colt, by Forest—Dina; chestnut colt, by Eolus—Nita; bay colt, by De Beauvoir—Ace of Hearts; chestnut colt, by Miser—Ray o'Light; bay colt, by Albert—Leda; chestnut colt, by Exile—Sarmienta; bay colt, by Prince James—Iuka; chestnut filly, by Potomac—Trill; chestnut filly, by Prince James—Caramel; bay filly, by Ben Strome—Dido; bay filly, by Falsetto—Genie.

"All of these youngsters are in healthy, thriving condition. The Ben Strome—Acra colt is of medium size, with good bone, and is a finished and bloodlike colt. The Leda colt, which is now close to sixteen hands, is nicely proportioned and shows more quality than most anything I have seen by Albert. His dam Leda, is a fine individual and a beautifully bred mare, and I have an idea that in the colt under notice she has produced something that will prove to be of good class.

"The Ace of Hearts' colt is a bit on the light framed order, but is a nicely balanced and racy looking colt. The colt out of the Barcalaine mare, Caledonia, is well proportioned and very powerful. He already measures sixteen hands and a half inch, with timber in proportion. He is a prompt, quick-actioned colt, and I regard him as a very promising youngster. One of the last of the get of Eolus is the Nita colt, in color a hard red chestnut, and shows quite a deal of quality.

"The Ben Strome—Dido filly is a very good looking, her only fault being a rather plain looking head; otherwise it would be hard to pick a flaw in her, and as all of these Ben Strome fillies race, Mr. Clark is naturally rather sweet on this one.

"Of the older horses, Candleblack has furnished and let down, and has developed into a much more muscular animal than I had any idea he would do. Banastar has also done wonderfully well, as has Jeannot, which, I understand, is a very speedy horse. He is on the close knit, muscular order, and is a decidedly useful looking sort.

"Of the 3-year-olds, Sanford has made the most improvement, having furnished and filled out all over. This colt, which was more or less amiss the greater part of last season, is possessed of a wonderful turn of speed, and as he is bred to stay, I look for him to show great improvement over his last year's form.

"Acushla, which performed so creditably last season, is training into a mare of good size and looks as if she might be tempted by a route, as she is a lengthy, roomy, old fashioned sort. The Rose has also come on in the right manner. This filly is better than her form on paper would make her out to be, and I look for her to show fair class as a 3-year-old. Lacochee, which was highly bred, was taken sick in the early part of last season and never started. He now looks well, as, in fact, does the whole string. A recent arrival in Mr. Allen's string is Judge Denny, which was in Sam Hildreth's string last season. The horse will remain in Mr. Allen's care until the arrival from California of F. M. Taylor, who intends bringing on some horses at the close of the racing season in California.

"W. Smith's string is this season smaller than usual, he having only the following four horses: Belmar, 7; Boy Orator, 4; Handcuff, 3; Ahom, 3. The latter looks well, but has not finished quite as much as I expected, and his head, which had always a plain appearance, struck me yesterday as being plainer than ever. I was very much disappointed in the horse's performances during the latter part of last season, and while it would seem almost a libel to say that a Sir Dixon could perform ungenerously I think this colt became soured from some cause or other.

"Handcuff, a neat little son of Hanover, is growing nicely, but he is on too small a scale to amount to much. Old Belmar looks well. Boy Orator is in good health, but like all of Meddler's get is lacking in the development that one expects to see in a 4-year-old horse, and it is this feature in all of Meddler's get which has made me feel very doubtful as to his proving a successful sire, as lack of muscular development in a horse's get is a very bad feature.

THE ANNUAL CHAMPION STAKES.

Long distance racing is to be a feature of this and the immediately following years to a much greater extent than has been the case during the past ten years. The tendency in that direction is general and popular.

It is to the credit of the San Francisco tracks that while their daily programs have provided for as much sprinting as any others their officials have always provided for races over the old time two, three and four mile routes, their reward being that they have always had good fields of starters and the records at two miles, two miles and a quarter and four miles now belong to California racetracks. It is a source of great satisfaction to those who believe that racing programs should cater to stamina as well as speed to note that the eastern clubs are also beginning to provide races of importance over long distances of ground, a movement which the middle western clubs will no doubt join by the coming around of another racing year. Similar steps are being taken in England, where the Jockey Club has set about restricting two-year-old racing and sprinting and has made provision for an increase of racing at distances of a mile or more.

To the Coney Island Jockey Club belongs the honor of having instituted in the Annual Champion Stakes a fixture that is bound to become within a few years the leading long distance race of America; one that will annually provoke as much interest and anticipation, or more, as a Brooklyn, Suburban or Futurity does now. The Annual Champion Stakes is a guaranteed event of the value of $25,000 annually. The winner will take $20,000, the second horse $2,000 and the third horse $750. The owner of the winner at the time of its entry is to receive $1,000, of the second horse, $500, of the third horse, $250 and the trainer of the winning horse is to receive $500. The race is to be run each autumn over the old fashioned cup course of two miles and a quarter, 3-year-olds to carry 115 pounds, 4-year-olds, 130 pounds, 5-year-olds and upward, 131 pounds. There will be no allowances other than sex and gelding, but penalties up to seven pounds are provided.

The distinguishing feature of this great stake of the future is that a horse once entered is always entered and entitled to start as long as he is able to run. It thus might be possible for a horse of extraordinary powers to capture it for several years in succession, although such an occurrence is extremely improbable. Nominations are as foals or yearlings. It costs only $5 to nominate a foal each 15th of July. It remains in subject to declaration the following 15th of July without further cost if then declared out. Subsequent declaration fees are $25 if declared a year later, $50 if declared the following February, and it costs $150 to stay in and race. For those entered as yearlings the rate of charges, as is usual in such cases, is higher. As the stake stands now it has twenty-six foal nominations of 1897 and twenty-three yearling nominations. The foal nominations made July 15, 1898, number 136. July 15 of this year, foals of 1899, and yearlings of 1898 will be entered. It can easily be seen that by this process each year's crop of foals is contributing its quota to swell the very great list of nominations this stake must inevitably secure by the time of its first running and have always thereafter. Its ingeniously devised conditions assure that we will have at least one great long-distance race in which the cracks of successive generations will be sure to measure strides under conditions that will test to the utmost their courage, stamina, speed and power to carry high weight through a long journey.

GEORGE BENNETT AFTER O'CONNOR.

George C. Bennett of Memphis has made W. C. Daly an offer of $6,000 for O'Connor's contract. It looks as if Bennett will get the boy.

He has met with encouragement and thinks he will succeed.

W. C. Daly thinks he has discovered a jockey of the future in little Slack who rode Sensational in a race a few days ago and is credited with offering $3,000 for a three year contract for the lad's services with the additional inducement of $25 for winning mounts.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

W. J. Taylor, a prominent attorney of Victoria, B. C., now in London, England, on business, owns seven Morello colts and fillies. The fact was lost sight of that Mr. Taylor had his mares on the Reis place in Contra Costa county the last year of Morello's life. Besides these youngsters by the dead turf monarch there are twelve baby racers by Little Mid, son of Midlothian. Several of the Taylor mares are Australian bred.

It is rumored in New York that the starting at Washington and Morris Park will be done by Mars Cassidy, and that Matt Byrnes will hold the flag at Saratoga.

It is reported that Sanford & Son of Amsterdam, N. Y., have engaged W. Hayward, Jr., who recently left the Sensation Stable, to train for them.

The St. Saviour—Carissima colt in Tom Healy's eastern string, which died recently, was one of the highest tried yearlings in the country. May Kennedy, the dam of O'Connell and six other winners, is heavy with foal to Wagner. It will be her first foal in four years.

Semper Ego is to jump this year. He seems to take to fencing naturally though he is hardly built on the popular plan.

Jockeys J. Hill and T. Burns are conditioning at Hot Springs, Ark.

Winner—Blk. g. by Hanover—Logic.
Off at first break to a fair start. The first two were driving. Hanlon tiptoed his field, but was driving to the limit the last furlong to stall off Free Hand, who ran a good race and would have won in a few more strides. The Hub closed a big gap from a bad beginning. Blenheim was poorly ridden. Tab him when he has a good jockey up. He needs one. Yo No Se ran below the mark. Lady Disdain closed stoutly. Kalitan is improving.

Scratched—10517 Tom Toher, 103; 10213 Bombardon, 106.

Winner—Ch. h. by Hanover—Blessing.
Start good. Won easily; second and third driving. Orion was best. He outclassed the field and will beat better ones. He is partial to mud. Einstein ran his race and was a good horse at end. Chappie ran above the mark. He is good and ready for winning in cheaper company. Merry Boy had bad luck and a bad ride. Silver State's race was to the notch. None Such needs fast going or thin mud. Torsion is cheap. Our Johnny closed a gap and stopped.

Scratched—10512 Jim Bozeman, 109; 10484 Melvin Burham, 109; 10360 Zarro, 109; 10547 Dare II, 112; (10594) Tammany Hall
